

Contents

- List of Figures vii
- List of Tables ix
- Foreword xi
- Preface xv
1. Introduction: The Destiny of Their Manifests; Entrada Assemblages and the Challenge and Promise of Modeling Deep History 1
Clay Mathers
 2. Distinguishing and Modeling Site Types in the Tiguex Province, New Mexico: Moho, Alcanfor, and the Struggle for Northern New Spain (1540–1542) 11
Clay Mathers and Michael P. Marshall
 3. The Stark Farm Enigma: Evidence of the Chicasa (Chikasha)-Soto Encounter in Mississippi? 43
James B. Legg, Charles R. Cobb, Edmond A. Boudreaux III, Brad R. Lieb, Chester B. DePratter, and Steven D. Smith
 4. Artifacts of the Soto and Luna y Arellano Expeditions in Alabama 68
Craig T. Sheldon and Ned J. Jenkins
 5. New Insights from Elemental Analysis of Chevron Beads from Contact Period Sites in the Southeastern United States 101
Daniel M. Seinfeld and Munir Humayun
 6. The Materials of Colonization: Archaeological and Documentary Traces of Tristán de Luna y Arellano's Colonial Fleet 126
John E. Worth and John R. Bratten

7. Material Culture in Northern La Florida: Impoverishment, Improvisation, Innovation, and Interaction 146
Christopher B. Rodning, Robin A. Beck, and David G. Moore
 8. The Hernando de Soto and Tristán de Luna y Arellano Expeditions in Central Alabama, 1540–1560: Routes, Cultures, and Consequences 162
Ned J. Jenkins and Craig T. Sheldon
 9. The Acquisition of Sixteenth-Century European Objects by Native Americans in the Southeastern United States 203
Marvin T. Smith and David J. Hally
- Conclusion: Looking Forward and Making it Count; Improving Entrada Models 247
Clay Mathers
- Works Cited 257
List of Contributors 289
Index 295