

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
1. Imperial Geopolitics, the Florida-Cuba Nexus, and Amerindian Passages	14
2. The “Evil Designs” of “Frequent Intercourse”: Havana, Empire, and Indigenous Geopolitics	40
3. “Barbarous Nations”: Apaches, “Mecos,” and Other “Indios Bárbaros” in Colonial Cuba	67
4. Mayas and the Mesoamerican Presence in Cuba	92
5. Yucatec Mayas, Transnational Resistance, and the Quotidian Struggles of Indentured Labor in Cuba, 1848–64	119
6. Blood Contract: Continuity, Change, and Persistence in Colonial Indigenous Labor Forms and Elite Strategies	143
Conclusion: Diaspora and the Enduring (and Diverse) Indigenous Presence in Cuba	164
Notes	175
References	221
Index	237