

Contents

Preface	xi
Prologue	xvii
Part One: “ The brand of Osceola and his warriors ” (1800-1842)
1. Early Migrations	3
“ Tellaugue Chapcopopeau, a creek which enters the ocean . . . at a place called the Fishery ”
2. Upheavals and Explorations	17
“ In this remote situation ”
3. Beginning of the Second Seminole War	34
“ The water of the land is my blood ”
4. Conclusion of the Second Seminole War	47
“ A perfect grave yard ”
Part Two: “ The society of a frontier ” (1842-1858)
5. The Frontier Moves to South Florida	63
“ To play off a shabby trick ”
6. The Army and the First Settlers	75
“ The crack of the rifle will be heard ”
7. Permanent Settlement	91
“ The country was absolutely new ”
8. The Third Seminole War	106
“ A veritable clap of thunder from a clear sky ”

Part Three: “Wild enthusiasm swept like vengeance over the whole country” (1858-1877)

- | | |
|---|-----|
| 9. Between the Wars | 123 |
| “They were simply pouring into South Florida” | |
| 10. Prelude to Fort Sumter | 136 |
| “There is but little apprehension of danger” | |
| 11. Civil War in the River Valley | 155 |
| “The times hear is very squally” | |
| 12. Republicans in Power | 176 |
| “The passions & prejudices of the people” | |
| 13. Cattle and Reconstruction Politics | 195 |
| “As fair as any vote ever held in the world” | |
| 14. Communities on the Frontier | 215 |
| “Peas Creek could be made navigable to Fort Meade” | |

Part Four: “Progress that our people did not dream of” (1877-1899)

- | | |
|--|-----|
| 15. The Problem of Violence | 239 |
| “We have to kill men to recruit our graveyards” | |
| 16. Isolation and the Need for Transportation | 255 |
| “We need something to cheer us up” | |
| 17. The Miracle of Railroads | 272 |
| “Improvements have gone up and on like magic” | |
| 18. Politics of Redemption | 292 |
| “A great deal of political strife among us” | |
| 19. Phosphate and Freezes | 312 |
| “It is at best a serious disaster” | |
| 20. At the End of the Century | 326 |
| “When can I expect you?” | |
| 21. The Legacy of the Nineteenth Century | 343 |
| “A little better than it used to be” | |

Appendixes

- | | |
|--|-----|
| 1. Soldiers of the Patriot War | 349 |
| 2. Selected Residents of Old Columbia, Hamilton, and Alachua Counties (c. 1830-1832) | 351 |

3. Selected Members of the Columbia Volunteers (1835-1836)	353
4. Selected Members of Capt. William B. North's Company, Florida Volunteers (1838-1839)	354
5. Selected Residents of Columbia and Hamilton Counties (1842-1843)	355
6. Armed Occupation Act Claims	356
7. Sparkman's and Parker's Volunteer Companies (1849)	358
8. Selected Enlistments, Second Florida Cavalry (U.S.) (March-June 1864)	360
9. Partial Roster, F.A. Hendry's Independent Company, Munnerlyn's Battalion (1864)	362
10. Capt. W.H. Cobb's Company (Company C), U.S. Volunteers (1898)	363
Abbreviations	365
Notes	367
Bibliography	431
Index	453