

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction. African American Watersheds	1
1. Between Breath and Death: Transatlantic Memory in Ntozake Shange's Sassafrass, Cypress, and Indigo and Julie Dash's Daughters of the Dust	31
2. Arteries of the Nation: Rivers of Redemption in Toni Morrison's Beloved and Henry Dumas's "Ark of Bones"	61
3. Wetlands, Swamps, and Bayous: Bodies of Resistance in Kasi Lemmons's Eve's Bayou and Toni Morrison's Tar Baby	83
Conclusion. Mud, Blood, and the Blues: Hurricane Katrina and the Floodwaters of the African Diaspora	115
Notes	143
Bibliography.	157
Index	169