

Contents

Preface: Understanding the South vii

Introduction 1

William A. Link and David Brown

PART I: CITIZENSHIP IN AN ENSLAVED SOCIETY

1. “Ter Show Yo’ de Value of Slaves”: The Pricing of Human Property 21
Daina Ramey Berry
2. Rewriting the Free Negro Past: Joseph Lumpkin, Proslavery Ideology, and Citizenship in Antebellum Georgia 41
Watson Jennison
3. Free People of Color, Expulsion, and Enslavement in the Antebellum South 64
Emily West
4. Citizenship, Democracy, and the Structure of Politics in the Old South: John Calhoun’s Conundrum 84
David Brown

PART II: RECONSTRUCTING CITIZENSHIP

5. Personal Reconstructions: Confederates as Citizens in the Post–Civil War South 111
James J. Broomall
6. Citizenship and Racial Order in Post–Civil War Atlanta 134
William A. Link
7. The Antithesis of Union Men and Confederate Rebels: Loyal Citizenship in the Post–Civil War South 150
Susanna Michele Lee

PART III: REIMAGINING CITIZENSHIP

8. Dark Satanic Fields: Uncle Tom's Cabin, Industrialization, and the U.S. Imperial Imaginary 173
Jennifer Rae Greeson
 9. Fables of the Reconstruction: The Citizen as Character 201
Scott Romine
 10. White Supremacy and the Question of Black Citizenship in the Post-Emancipation South 223
Daryl Michael Scott
 11. Tolentino, Cable, and Tourgée Confront the New South and the New Imperialism 247
Peter Schmidt
- Epilogue: Place as Everywhere: On Globalizing the American South 271
Michael O'Brien
- List of Contributors 291
Index 295